

Robert DeLuca, DO, FACOFP dist. is an osteopathic family physician in Eastland, Texas. He is also an Associate Professor of Family Medicine at the University of North Texas Health Science Center's Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine. Originally hailing from Hammonton, New Jersey, Dr. DeLuca is a graduate of the University of Houston, where he received a Bachelor of Science in biology. He received his M.S. from Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, and his D.O. degree from the Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine. He was elected as Governor on the ACOFP Board of Governors in March 2012, and served as chair of the Convention and Site Committee. He also was named Texas Society of the ACOFP's Family Practice Physician of the Year in 2005. Dr. DeLuca is also a Past President of the Texas Society of the ACOFP. Dr. DeLuca met his wife, Valerie, at an ACOFP convention in Washington, DC. She was the student representative from TCOM. Dr. DeLuca has one daughter, Allison, who works for Mary Crowley Cancer Research. In his free time, Dr. DeLuca plays in a rock 'n roll band, Docrockin.