

LeRoy E. Young, DO, FAOCOPM dist., is a certified occupational and preventive medicine specialist in Oklahoma City. A graduate of the Kansas City University of Biomedical Sciences College of Osteopathic Medicine, Dr. Young is a past OOA presidents and serves on various bureau and committees of the OOA; most notably as Chair of Bureau on Legislation and Chair of OOPAC. He currently serves as President-Elect for the Oklahoma Educational Foundation for Osteopathic Medicine and Board of Trustees for the Oklahoma State Board of Osteopathic Examiners. Dr. Young is Senior Associate Dean for Clinical Affairs for the Oklahoma State University-Oklahoma City College of Osteopathic Medicine. Dr. Young was recently awarded Doctor of the Year at the OOA's 119th Annual Convention.