

Maryam Shambayati, D.O., is a pediatric gastroenterologist with INTEGRIS Health. She received her Bachelors degree from Southern Methodist University, Masters degree from Georgetown University, and her medical degree from the University of North Texas. She completed her pediatrics residency at the University of Texas at Houston followed by pediatric gastroenterology fellowship at the University of Oklahoma.

Certified by the American Board of Pediatrics and the American Osteopathic Board of Pediatrics, Dr. Shambayati is a member of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the North American Society for Pediatric Gastroenterology, Hepatology and Nutrition.