

Johnathon Lowe, DO, MHA, MSC, is a board eligible Emergency Medicine physician. He is currently an assistant professor of Emergency Medicine at Oklahoma State University Center for Health Sciences. He also works as faculty in medical education for the CHS. Dr. Lowe sits on many committees, including the international committee of the American Academy of Emergency Medicine and the Oklahoma State Department of Health Trauma Referral Improvement Committee.

Dr. Lowe began his career in medicine as a medic in the U.S. Army, including combat deployments. He completed his undergraduate at the University of Oklahoma, medical school at Oklahoma State College of Osteopathic Medicine. He completed his residency at Oklahoma State University Medical Center in Emergency Medicine. While in residency, he completed Masters degrees in Global Health and Healthcare Administration.

Dr. Lowe has a passion for global health, specifically in sustainable systemic changes and medical student/resident education.