

Glenn D. Tiller, DO, MEd, is born and raised in Oklahoma City, OK, and graduated from Putnam City North High School. She then attended Southwestern Oklahoma State University where she received a Bachelor of Science in Biological Sciences and a Master of Education in Health Science and Microbiology. She then went on to achieve her Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine degree from Oklahoma State University College of Osteopathic Medicine in 2017. While at OSU-COM, she was an OMM teaching assistant, stress management leader, president of the ACOP student club, and secretary of the AMWA student club. After graduation, she began her family medicine residency at OSU in the OMECO program and graduated in June of 2020.

During residency, she was involved in the ACOFP Task Force on Teen Sexual Health, a resident member of the OMECO resident council, the resident chair of the council, and a resident representative for the OSU/OMECO GMEC. During her PGY-3 year, she was chief resident of the OMECO program with the primary responsibility for planning and coordinating the OSU and OMECO family medicine academic programming for the 2019-2020 academic year. She then went on to join the faculty of the OSU Family Medicine program as a Clinical Assistant Professor of Family Medicine in July 2020.

She is married to her wonderful wife, Autumn, and together they have one 3-year-old son Dev. In her free time, she enjoys spending time with her family, grilling, and reading historical fiction.
