

Parvathi Perumareddi, DO

Parvathi Perumareddi is a board-certified Family Physician, Associate Professor at Schmidt College of Medicine at Florida Atlantic University, where she serves as course director for an M2 organ system basic science course as well as facilitator and teacher in various M1 and M4 course, including director of Academic Medicine Elective. She is a graduate of Nova Southeastern University College of Osteopathic Medicine and University of Mississippi

Medical Center, where she was chief resident in the Family Medicine Residency.

Her medical topic interests include: DM, HTN, dyslipidemia, gut microbiome, nutrition, exercise, lifestyle modifications and her academic passions are: teaching, innovation in medical education, writing, editing and mentoring students. Her personal hobbies include: time with family/friends/her GSD, dance, music, reading, and exercising!